

Terms and Conditions

By using The Hype Advisor website (www.thehypeadvisor.com), you are agreeing to this Terms of Use, which are subject to change at any given time. If any notice of change to the Terms is made to you, the change shall be made effective immediately. Any disagreement with the Terms should result in discontinuing the use of our website.

You agree that compliance with these Terms are the legal equivalent of a signed, written contract with The Hype Advisor.

1. You are solely responsible for determining the merits and risks associated with the evaluation of information on our website. We advise that you closely examine the information before making any financial investment decision
2. If you are chosen as an investor in our first round of investments, you will be contacted by The Hype Advisor through email, which elaborates upon the logistics of our service and contains the agreement contract. By signing the contract, you agree to invest the original amount listed on the application.
3. For purposes of your use of our Services including identification and billing, you agree to provide us with accurate information as is required by the application. We agree to not share your information with any third parties, unless we receive permission from you to do so. If any of the information changes at any time during the investment time frame, you agree to promptly update us to keep it accurate.
4. If your registration with The Hype Advisor is revoked for any reason, you agree not to sign up again with our service.
5. The website is designed for access on a computer. You acknowledge that navigation of the website on any other device may not be compatible, and we cannot guarantee complete accuracy.